I heard he was in the UK for awhile, and I think he's Canadian.
I think Stella was in touch with him for awhile, but they lost contact at one point. I think Zylo had some issues. 😞 08:24
- B bz 08:24
Maybe yes, may be no.
I don't know him
Wo...issues? 08:24
- M mxy 08:24
I think he was in the hospital for something, at one point? I'm not sure.
He deleted most of his accounts 08:25
- B bz 08:25
what happend...
- M mxy 08:25
Kelly Kolisnik or whatever, is his real name, I'm 99% sure
- B bz 08:25
In reply to this message
can you find his twitter with these name?
- M mxy 08:26
You can find some hits for it, including Stella trying to get back in touch with him. Most of the results are poisoned by E
And it's unclear how much of what E said was true, as always 08:26
*poisoned by E and E's followers/"E sent me"-crowd 08:27
- B bz 08:28
E or E's followers poisoned Zylo?
Why? 08:28
- M mxy 08:28
No sorry, I said that badly. The search results are poisoned by them, like their replies flood the results so much that it's most of what's there and it taints the results

bz

E cannot be trusted easily 08:29

M mxy 08:29
Exactly

B bz 08:29
Looks a little evil

M mxy 08:30
There might be a seed of truth in something he claims, but the rest is nonsense. E says he was part of AssangeDAO NFT marketplace development? Maybe there was NFT marketplace development, but he had no role beyond being there, _maybe_.

B bz 08:31
NFT marketplace is not a good idea....

M mxy 08:32
I think there was some talk of it right at the end of the forums and discord, right before the NFT crash

B bz 08:32
It cannot compete with others NFT trading platforms...so it is actually meaningless.
The community should issue NFTs, but there is no need for an NFT marketplace

M mxy 08:36
Personally, I think NFTs are silly but I'm not gonna say that to the DAO or say it shouldn't be used for antifascism. There's no wrong to antifa so long as it works and doesn't harm anyone but the fascists 😊

(I mean, I'll say it privately or unrelated to AssangeDAO but I won't oppose AssangeDAO NFT plans because I don't like NFTs) 08:38

I think that this is his current Twitter account, under his real name: 08:41
<https://twitter.com/KellyKolisnik>

It could be cobbled together images from his other posts, though - it's mostly reposts of the conspiracy theorist General Sands. Coincidentally, she recently interviewed Saggi, who had worked with Kelly for years 🙄 08:43

This is the other account that resolves to his name, but it's been wiped <https://twitter.com/ZyloWeb> 08:43

M mxy 09:38
<https://twitter.com/BelmarshCat/status/1624348795575099392> E using Zylo as "proof"

bz

I've heard the claim that he took care of Julian and Stella's kids before, but never any confirmation of it

30 April 2024

bz

13:00

Hey,would you mind telling me your twitter ID?

1 May 2024

mxy

06:54

I don't use Twitter these days, but to answer Gabriel's question, yes I'm Emma. Is that a problem? I'm not anyone's enemy, nor am I here to disrupt the DAO - I want it to succeed in seeing Julian freed. No one deserves prison.

But to answer directly:

06:55

My Twitter was <https://twitter.com/NatSecGeek>

My Mastodon is <https://kolektiva.social/@NatSecGeek>

bz

13:20

No problem at all,glad to know you.

thank you very much for support of DAO, also,DDoSecrets contributes huge to the free of information.

Thank you tell me many infomation abt Zyl0,

I don't contact him for nearly 1 year, don't know what's happening to him with all these badly things, but I hope he's still healthy and safe...

The DAO is really a little hard recently - for all sorts of reasons.

13:27

You can invite friends who support Julian to join the telegraph group and we could work together to build it.

13:50

I look forward to when you can share your proposal with the channel. I might post the link to the channel, but I think there needs to be some transparency or answers before I would feel good about inviting anyone in particular. I can still try to be a source of positivity in the chat (I don't need to bring up my disagreements about NFTs there, etc.) and I'll happily keep saying that prison isn't the answer

bz

13:54

Absolutely,prison isn't a good answer,they don't know what's blockchain\what's crypto,just effort to stifle and vilify the industry and the people in it.

no shame in admitting I've used it as a practical matter.

bz

abt the proposal,don't worry,everything will+should be transparency,I'm just volunteering to provide it to the DAO.
but for a long time, the reason why the community could not be destabilised (could not initiate proposals, use the treasury) was that the family did not give enough motivation and support to the community.

I offered some advice on the proposal. I sent them to the family and waited for his reply. 13:58

abt the NFT,In fact, there is not much difference between coins &NFT, the most important is:a reasonable economic cycle system to make the community grow. 14:01

After all, you know, this is a crypto community, it's not a traditional NGO. You're right, crypto has practical uses in many areas.

16:22

How do you see the relationship between laws/regulations and the Crypto industry?

2 May 2024

06:50

I don't know enough to have a good opinion on that. But I know that most of the people making those laws/regulations don't understand crypto, or they only know about one kind of crypto

I mostly understand BTC, but that doesn't mean I understand all the other kinds of cryptocurrency. And I know more about it than most lawmakers 06:51

I think the lawmakers are worried about anonymous transactions and "scary" criminals because things are more anonymous (even though bags of paper cash are very anonymous if no one watches the exchange in real-time) but to me, the bigger problem is scammers - something we see in every new market and innovation. The problem isn't that crypto is a pyramid scheme, it's that people turn it into one. The stock market is no different 06:54

09:47

Noting that you talked about governance, in your opinion, what are the current problems and deficiencies in the governance of this community?

mxy

09:49

The lack of transparency and accountability for what's happened with the DAO and how Wau Holland has spent the money so far, and I guess it being very unclear how people can actually participate.

bz

The DAO still owns the NFT, right? That should be a nice asset, if just in principle. But it's broken <https://censored.art/clock> 09:51

The date it shows is wrong, and doesn't match the number it shows below 09:52

There's (hopefully) a simple fix for that, but it's disappointing and a bad look - "the world's most expensive NFT is broken", "the censored Free Julian NFT is broken" 09:53

The forums were where the decisions and proposals were supposed to me made, but now it's unclear - how can/should people suggest things? Would it even matter if they did? 09:55

The consensus unit is too busy to look at things before the community approves things and goes through the processes 09:56

I think needing to wait on them isn't realistic, and invites bias on who submits it. I doubt Gabriel would ever look past my name, and I'm not asking him to. But that type of thing is one more reason to not make them the first tier of review. But mainly their time/energy availability. They're traveling, dealing with press, legal, and emergency developments, on top of family 09:58

bz 09:58

I am touched, from your words, you give a lot of attention and observation to this community, many of the descriptions, are in line with the reality of the situation.

M

mxy 10:01

I think the loss of the forum is also discouraging, but it was the record of the community and of the governance. I'm probably one of the few people who has a (hopefully) complete archive of it, but not many people know how to and care to

bz 10:01

What do you think of the MaxBid issue when the nft was originally auctioned?

M

mxy 10:02

I think the MaxBid issue caused a lot of problems for the community, and I don't really understand all sides of it. That's probably a problem. I've tried to look it over, but I don't really understand what happened

My guess is... 10:02

A decision was made by some of the leadership, and not well communicated to everyone else 10:03

bz

that and the lack of communication were a very bad combination 10:04

And the lack of transparency afterwards made that wound fester 10:04

That's my best guess 10:04

If you look at the chat in the video though, people there don't know who he is for the most part and are just impressed by the big telegram group he ran. I'm not sure who invited him to the group or how he got in, but I'm interested to know

I like research and information, and obviously leaks. In the last year or two, I pulled together all the information I could on everything related to WikiLeaks, including various internal leaks. Even public community posts are a great resource, because they do so much research on WikiLeaks and Assange, and post so many links and lots of information. There's also a lot of people who cross over from different projects, like before AssangeDAO, Zylo worked on the WikiLeaks Shop, and was one of the people who worked with Siggi.

In fact, it's a bit of a boast that the only people in this community who have given work since the auction ended are me, and the volunteers I used to organise.

Attending European concerts, report wedding, the NFT whitelist...and then E brought about unrest, uncooperative family members, and continued paralysis of the community for a very long time.

In 2023, I had written a development proposal, the family and other multisigners were not very cooperative, somehow.

This is my second attempt to save the community. Last month, I asked for Twitter to be reactivated, Gb agreed; then I formed the Telegraph group again, and wrote a development proposal...

bz

M mxy 12:58

I don't have a good feeling about this guy, if it's really E, that's great news. The fact is, he has been bringing destruction, division, and misinterpretation to this community, and other than that, has contributed nothing positive.

Of course, when somebody are arrested, there's often more to the story than meets the eye - for example, it may not only for paedophilia. But, in any case, for me, AssangeDAO has brought nothing but loss, sadness, misunderstanding and abuse... It should be sunny and transparent, with no conspiracies, no centralisation of power, no deception, no violations of the law and no perceived violations of the law as a result.

That's why I'm still here.

This song always makes me think of him https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Om_VWBua0_M

 bz 00:27
who ?

 mxy 00:28
Julian

It's not about him, but they use his name in the song 00:28

<https://genius.com/Foxy-shazam-oh-lord-lyrics> 00:28

His name coincidentally being used, the world sinking its fangs in, the lights always being on, there being wars to be fought, it being worth it in the end, it's easy to imagine it being about him 00:30

 bz 00:31
sorry, because my native language is not English, I can't fully understand the emotions expressed in this song.
guess the feelings expressed in this song towards Julian should be positive, right?

 mxy 00:33
Yes. It's protective towards Julian and sorrowful that the world is the way that it is. I think the singer is Julian's father

Or at least feels paternal 00:33

Re-reading the lyrics, maybe I was wrong? "I'll stitch you, but then I gotta throw you back in" ?? 00:35

AssangeDAO is not perfect, and even in its early days it did make some mistakes, and I was misunderstood by many, and even abused by many. But the community\the members in the community, are innocent.

So,that's why i still try to save it

- B bz 17:14
also, there are still a few ghosts - ill-wishers - lurking in the DAO. Should be careful in the future.
- M mxy 17:15
I will. And that's one reason I don't ask for Gabriel's trust.
Julian is not a cause to him and Stella, he's family. You can't ask someone to set aside fear and trepidation when it comes to their family. 17:15

Guess that's where the misunderstanding came from? 18:38
- M mxy 20:54
I never threatened to take over the Discord and didn't try to. The link expired, discord.gg/assangedao or whatever it was. I grabbed it and joked about it. I offered to give it back to the DAO and there was a message that it would be nice but no one followed up with me and I was banned from actual discord
I think the forum had posted about the problem with the links 20:55 months before, but no one did anything. I tried to provoke them into doing something about all the problems

- B bz 07:41
Here are some personal recommendations.
1, the greater influence of the AssangeDAO, the closer to the truth can be.
2, Regarding Julian/Wikileaks, there are many different organisations and groups around the world that can join the AssangeDAO community, all are welcome.
3, I personally do not have any preference for different parties or political ideologies. I am open to receiving any information or data - as long as it is factual.
4, No one is perfect, without any mistakes or flaws. Even God makes mistakes.

The people who don't like me - I assume that dislike is also distrust. 14:53
As I said, I don't ask for their trust. But I do ask them to be transparent. It would be fair for me to answer likewise.

If you like, and if they like, you may take their questions and ask them as if they were your own, repeating my answer to the one who asked that particular question.

They might not always - or ever - like my answers. But I can give them 14:54 my truth, and try to clear up misunderstandings, as you say.

mxy 16:30

Is AssangeDAO on Mastodon? They should be

They can use a bot/app to sync the posts, or something like buffer to 16:31 post to multiple social media channels and accounts at once

<https://buffer.com/> 16:32

For Mastodon instances, there are a lot of good ones. I'm on 16:33 kolektiva.social, but I think they know and like the people at <https://chaos.social>

Or at least I assume they do, because it's loosely connected to CCC 16:34

But the DAO should get on the Mastodon/the fediverse 16:34

Wau Holland isn't even on Twitter anymore. <https://twitter.com/wauland> 16:36
(Not saying AssangeDAO needs to get off Twitter, but a big part of the community isn't on Twitter)

16:39

It's easy to verify an account is associated with a website, too. You just list it and add a little code to the website. And then you can get a little check-mark next to the link on your account

I only own the secondary authority--Discord,Twitter... not top authority.
So,best style is:Try to create as little conflict as possible, for the DAO, for Julian, try to keep things a little more stable, try to unite as many people as possible

M mxy 19:42
I can keep conflict away from this space. I follow data where it goes, regardless of where it goes. But I think there's a lot of stuff that people close to the community see as unexpected, or superficially "bad" and refuse to look at as puzzle pieces

Regarding the data you have collected and published, I am not in a position to judge its authenticity, nor am I in a position to express an opinion on it, and I am not willing to engage in any political partisan interest or conflict.

Frankly, for most of people who joined AssangeDAO, Julian is a hero who straddles between Crypto and the Internet - it's an almost totemic cult, hope you understand.

For us.

1, Julian get free.

2. AssangeDAO becomes powerful.

That's what we, or at least I personally expect.

Maybe it will help if it that is made more clear

What kind of issues do you want people to bring up ? 11:31

And what comes later ? 11:32

Maybe say when another proposal can be made, so people know it does not end with this 11:32

Or people might focus on what this doesn't do instead of fixing what it does, and then after this is done making a new proposal for other things 11:33

You don't want this proposal to get too big, too many things 11:35

Even if all those things are good 11:35

Get started again, and help people get those good ideas into proposals 11:36

If it gets too big, you don't get any of it done, or it takes too long 11:37

Julian's case stalled forever 11:37

Start by un-stalling the DAO 11:37

The most important thing right now is to ask Gb, the other multisigns (Silk, Amkr, Rose) agree to the community opening a vote on this proposal.

bz

interconnected and tightly cyber.

This way there's only one vote, and then multisigns only need to sign 1-3 times, that's all.

If you are also hold $Justice, Please speak directly to the Telegraph group, - every holder's request is important. 13:38

The community is not owned by one person, it cannot be centralised, it should be decided by all holders. 13:38

let' make Justice great! let's make the DAO great again! for Julian! for Freedom! 13:43

 mxy 13:43
In reply to this message
And yes, making it easy for the community to do things is the good first step

And the proposal does that 13:44

 bz 13:45
Hate all the people and excuses for holding back the community for any reason .
These people, one suspects that their aim is to let the community die a

bz

It's the most important spiritual of the DAO and cypherpunks, it can't be buried or polluted!

mxy

13:47

>The individual must possess a minimum of 5 million $Justice tokens

I don't understand that part. I thought one reason for Consensus Unit was so people couldn't buy control. And it also means someone needs certain wealth to be able to play that role

I'm not saying it's wrong, but I don't understand

13:48

I read it again and that's my feedback 🤔

13:54

bz

Only the holder will work hard for the DAO.

In reply to this message

what ?

haha ,sorry,don't know what you talk is ture?

23:29

mxy

23:29

Why holding the token will make someone work harder for the DAO

bz

23:29

In reply to this message

eg:

If you don't own shares in a company, do you care if it's healthy in the long run? Would you want it to be great? would you work hard for it day and night ?

23:30

mxy

23:30

Because you care.

Did you care about Julian before you spent money on the DAO? Of course you did

23:30

But DAOs are different, right ?

23:32

If it is deciding things, it makes sense

23:32

If it is a job, maybe I just don't understand

23:33

bz

M mxy 23:33
Ok

B bz 23:35
Second, I know Julian for many years, cause i'm a cypherpunk for many years, like many softengineers in china. but because lack of openness in media freedom, many of us not usually talk and show in public

eg. 23:37

IPFS, It's a type of architecture that I've been thinking about and designing for a long time.

What are the drawbacks and differences between Tor and common Mesh, which is a question we often think about.

many year ago, when i was young, also used to get into certain server... 23:38 with tricks (just to see and not spoil)

So, we all care abt Julian, even the DAO not here. 23:39

M mxy 23:39
In reply to this message

Haha, when I was young I used to argue with my parents about that.

"What's wrong if they leave the drawer open, and I'm just looked at what's there?"

*looking 23:40

B bz 23:40
but!

the DAO, is a crypto project, it's own the token.

so, it's a different logic on many economic levels..

" Don't damage or crash networks you hack into; don't mess with the 23:41 data and share information". __Julian

M mxy 23:42

I understand half of economics. The flow of things, I understand. Why people want things, I don't. Why do people want things? I don't understand why people want. I want to laugh. I want information. Safety. What is all this greed?

B bz 23:43

- M mxy 07:06
In reply to this message
I don't understand what you're asking - but let me try to explain
At the time, I uploaded many files to archive.org - declassified 07:07 government documents mostly, but anything that would be interesting to people. Archive.org is free, it makes them searchable and people can download the files, and they're a non-profit that doesn't try to make money off the files.
But archive.org (the Internet Archive) will remove things if they get a 07:10 government order, if it's a copyright violation, a violation of privacy, etc.

bz

...things would have been mirrored, but WikiLeaks raised a very real concern at the time and I'd raise the same concern today)

Does that answer what you were asking? 07:10 should backup in two drives,for important data

In fact, some members in the community now who are anxious and angry. 13:27

Because they don't see any real progress in the community.

The proposal has been put out,it seems,that some are trying to deny it. 😞

A guy was just on discord, saying that tokens are just souvenirs and shouldn't be marketed with price considerations in mind. 13:29

Then many other members got into a verbal confrontation with him.

I can't even persuade them...LoL

I got some new FOIA documents on WikiLeaks. Boring mostly. One thing maybe interesting - or at least good for Julian and WikiLeaks. Not much, but something

I will make it public, and share later. Will talk to a colleague about it =) 07:20

B

bz 13:05

really ? seems this might help Julian's case?

If it is factual, my suggest is post it directly in the open group and communicate it together.

Also, I don't know if there is a misunderstanding or a real hostile relationship between you&Gb&WikiLeaks. Overall, at this stage, anybody, anything, should not damage Julian's reputation.

M

mxxy 13:52

I don't know if it will be relevant to his case - but probably his campaign. But it says WikiLeaks cables didn't hurt the Marshals' Service.

Subject: Distributed Denial of Secrets (DDoSecrets) Distribution of LE PII/Sensitive Info

Is TOD tracking this and doing something? Does this fall under your lane?

(U//LES) On June 19, 2020, the Wikileaks alternative website, Distributed Denial of Secrets (DDoSecrets), exposed ten years of data from over 200 police departments, fusion centers, and law enforcement (LE) entities. In a Twitter post announcing the release of this information, DDoSecrets claims the information includes "hundreds of thousands of documents" to include "police and FBI reports, bulletins, guides and more."^[1] A self-proclaimed member of Anonymous claimed responsibility for stealing this information.^[2] The information was reportedly obtained from a Houston-based web development firm whose customers include LE groups nationwide.

(U//LES) KrebsOnSecurity initially reported on this leak and confirmed the validity of the leaked information with the National Fusion Center Association (NFCA).^[3] The NFCA also confirmed the stolen documents contain sensitive financial data, personally identifiable information (PII), and numerous state and federal sensitive LE reports.^[4] DDoSecrets founder Emma Best acknowledged the publication of financial information and LE PII claiming its exposure may promote LE accountability.^[5] Best stated DDoSecrets attempted to remove data about victims, children, unrelated private businesses, health care, and retired veterans' associations.^[6]

Denmark Lied About WikiLeaks Cooperation
In 2010, WikiLeaks started a global firestorm when it publicly released a redacted copy of the Iraq War Logs, but in Denmark it kicked off a unique series of events that culminated in WikiLeaks' closest known cooperation with a NATO ally in an investigation of alleged war crimes - a cooperation that Denmark later sought to deny. Documents from the AssangeLeaks cache confirm that WikiLeaks' cooperated with the Danish military's investigation, going as far as giving them unredacted access to the Iraq War Logs.
- BTW, I'm finally making progress on the draft
- I found several statements from Kristinn and Julian that help flesh it out, and prove that WikiLeaks didn't hide it 02:21
-  mxy 02:47
Days later, Julian Assange told Al Jazeera that they had been approached by Russian intelligence to cooperate, adding that WikiLeaks "refused to engage" with them in an exchange caught the eye of the WikiLeaks Task Force. Within a week, WikiLeaks was approached by another government - Denmark's. On November 3rd, Commander Torben Mikkelsen from Denmark's Defense Command made a public statement that they wanted the unredacted data, and called on WikiLeaks to release it to them. Unlike Assange's description of rejecting Russia's approach, WikiLeaks quickly agreed to help Denmark investigate themselves.

To be clear, this is Emma Best. I'm writing about what happened with E (Amick) now that he's been arrested. Gonna make sure to include WikiLeaks people etc calling him out as a fraud. But there are still some gaps about his involvement in AssangeDAO, and I was wondering if I could ask you about it 1:56 PM ✓

I think it's important to document what happened - and him being denounced before his arrest - since it's likely to be part of the story about his cases 1:57 PM ✓

Based on the logs I have, my understanding is that you added him to the early internal AssangeDAO telegram group. I was hoping you could tell me about that and how he became involved 1:58 PM ✓

idk he was a weird guy and I steered away from all that since it's not my battle really 1:59 PM

That's understandable. I was aware of him but avoided digging in before his arrest 1:59 PM ✓

How did you meet him and wind up adding him to the group? 2:00 PM ✓

FWIW, I'm not looking to cause problems for the DAO, just to untangle what happened

Greetings Amir,
let's continue chat here, because discord's server has been inaccessible to most members for a long time.

I will happy to explain questions you mentioned above.

 bz 02.06.2024 22:55:29 04:11
1, About the proposal:
Because the related tools and resources are not well maintained (the original telegram group was banned, Discord server did not renew, link failure too long, A few arbitrary mod arbitrary kick away too many people). therefore, this proposal is covered in both the new Telegram Group and Discord, following the old ways of working in the community, including:
1), in the Discord server's proposasl channel, for a full discussion,

bz

channels/919249551615991859/939164128268943381
and combined with most of the discussion comments completed the revision.

2). The governance channel in the current new telegram group, updated synchronously, also initiates a statistical vote of intent-it can be used as a temperature test.

https://t.me/Real_AssangeDAO/283/578

So, it is fully in line with the community's existing governance process, in the current difficult circumstances, try to ensure that the principles of democracy, openness, transparency are followed.

All of these records show that the majority of community members who participated in the discussion agreed to vote on this proposal and be implemented by the DAO.

1、关于提案：

因为相关的工具和资源没有很好的维护（原来的电报群被封了，Discord服务器没有续费，链接失效时间太长，某些mod任意踢走的人太多）。因此，这个提议在新的Telegram Group和Discord中都有覆盖，遵循社区中的旧工作方式，包括：

1) 在Discord服务器的proposasl频道中，充分讨论，

<https://discord.com/>

channels/919249551615991859/939164128268943381

<https://discord.com/>

channels/919249551615991859/934856571018698845

并且结合大多数讨论意见完成了修订。

2) . 同步更新的当前新电报组中的治理通道也发起了意向的统计投票--它可以用作温度测试。

https://t.me/Real_AssangeDAO/283/578

所以，这是完全符合社会现有的治理程序，在目前困难的情况下，尽量确保民主、公开、透明的原则得到遵循。

所有这些记录都表明，参与讨论的大多数机构群体成员都同意对该提案进行投票，并由DAO实施。

The most important thing is:

Existing governance tools we have-Snapshot, GnosisSafe, in the past they have carried out effective work, the current only because it has not been used for a long time, is not activated, only need all the current multi-signers(Amir、Rose、Silk、Me) to perform a signature,to activate the space in SnapShot, and We still have a valid proposal author, who should faithfully implement the wishes of most of the holders--launch a vote for this proposal.

This is about democracy, and the will of the majority should be respected.

最重要的是：

我们现有的治理工具--Snapshot、GnosisSafe，过去它们都进行了有效的工作，当前只是因为长时间没有使用，没有激活，只需要当前

bz

(Sorry, maybe it takes a while to describe many things, please give me a little space.) 04:11

bz 03.06.2024 01:35:23 04:11

2,About the buy back:
we all should make clear that buy back is only the smallest part of the whole proposal, and it is closely related to other modules, rather than independent modules,it represents the following:

1) The only token running in the AssangeDAO is $Justice. 04:11
All activities of the community, including accommodating more people through it to participate in campaigns calling for Julian's release, governance, organizing and motivating volunteers, running community businesses, following up support for more cypherpunk projects... (Phase II, Phase III of Chapter I).to perform these tasks, the Treasury must have as many tokens as possible.

2)In the long run, there are two hallmarks of this community's success: 04:11

(1)$Justice token have been well used and recycled in the operation of the community--it's always missing, and it is also one of the reasons why the community is criticized, scolded and belittled by the outside world.

(2)Julian is free--Julian's family is working hard.

The two are interrelated and indispensable. they can promote each other and produce greater effect.

Otherwise, everyone here only waiting for Julian to be free? Is Justice token an empty MeMe coin? Cats and dogs? commemorative coins? that's ridiculous.

3)We should believe that the current price of $Justice is enough lower, it's prices will continue to rise in the future, but the ETH price may depreciate at any time due to macroeconomics, if not seize the opportunity to allow the treasury to hold as many tokens, will lead to greater losses in the future. 04:11

4)Notice that some of the arguments that have been made about letting the treasury do other investments, at this stage, are not appropriate. the correct and reasonable path should be: Let the treasury hold as many tokens as possible, then, according to the proposal to building, so that more people through knowing the DAO, holding tokens, using tokens, participate in the Julian event. In this way, the value of tokens in the treasury gradually increased, and then support other projects. (Phase I、 Phase II of CHAPTER II). If we consider investing our treasury funds in other tokens now, rather than actively building around Justice first, the treasury will maybe directly exposed to losses. 04:11 get more other tokens?

Ethereum Foundation, always use USDT\USDC\DAI to buy back ETH.

If the AssangeDAO's treasury are unwilling to hold as much $Justice as possible, who will have any interest or confidence in it?

6)About liquidity: 04:11

there are long time been illiquid, people have expressed their dissatisfaction everywhere. (I recently sent some screenshots in the multi-signers group):

<https://t.me/c/1585423505/354>

After using as much ETH to buyback as possible, treasury gets as much $Justice tokens as possible to support the deployment and implementation of the various modules working in the proposal, Dex market will also be thicker and people will trade a lot more smoothly (At present, people are prone to losing money every time they trade).

There's talk of short-term price hikes that cause some people to run away--that's ridiculous. Is AssangeDAO going to lock up the liquidity of people's tokens and force people to stay here? where is FREEDOM?

the buyback process, maybe resulting in short-term price rise and fall, do not worry---because our purpose is not to manipulate prices. the righteous who are willing to continue to pay attention to Julian will naturally continue to buy and stay here; those who are unwilling, such as certain short-term speculators, let them leave.

In the end, the stronger and more loyal supporters of the freedom movement are the ones who really will stay.

So, buyback is no liquidate the DAO, Instead, it is the right way to drive the community back on track.

abt you mentioned doing ventures to grow the treasury, it 04:11 is a good idea! I personally agree with this idea.

once the proposal is implemented, I believe progress will be rapid. then In Phase I of Chapter II, it will have venture ability.

eg,

AssangeDAO would be honored if LunarDAO or Dark.Fi could pass through this module and give AssangeDAO a certain percentage of participation.

Indeed, the root cause behind the incident you mentioned 04:11 is a governance issues.

current the governance, not perfect, have flaw; we can refine it.

In the early, when you were trying to help the community 04:11 with governance issues in the fundraising phase, unfortunately, people were too impetuous at that time to pay attention to your efforts.

bz

When we improve governance structures and processes, we should consider the following:

1) We should keep current Snapshot and treasury history data, which cannot be discarded, they represent the history of the DAO.

2) If some proposals and resolutions in history are not scientific and reasonable, they can be corrected through subsequent proposals. 04:11

3) complete and thorough on-chain governance (such as fully automating proposals and operational treasury through Tally or osnap) is technically achievable, but it maybe brings with it the flaw of insufficient antifragility. 04:11

The chaebol may take advantage of their capital to initiate proposals harmful to the DAO and then exercise unreasonable control over the treasury... look(just an example, no intention to offend these holders):

4, How to Improve current governance for the DAO? my personal advice is:
in the development proposal(https://t.me/Real_AssangeDAO/283/551), add the following three parts:

1)Proposer selection criteria and work criteria: 04:11

(1)Must hold a certain number of tokens (5 million).

(2)Must be real-life verified by some community members, not completely anonymous.

(3)Must been observed for a period of time by members to confirm that its willingness and character to serve the DAO deserve trust.

(4)Construct sentinels mechanism among proposers for the entire community:

Set Moderator instead of Author in SnapShot,Gives each proposer the right to create and delete proposals.

(5)The total number of proposer is limited to 5, satisfying the 3/5 rule. that is, if three proposers agree to delete or create a proposal, the sentinels mechanism will takes effect.

Currently, it is recommended to delete all authors (most of them never worked) and set multi-signers (including Amir, Silk, Rose, Bz) who are still willing to serve the community as proposer.

bz

amount of support (such as 500 million), any proposer should fulfill the responsibility of sending the proposal into SnapShot.

(2)Once a proposal is sent to SnapShot, it will not actually take effect in the voting cycle. so, it is in the time interval for all proposers to fulfill their Sentinels duties.

(3)The content of a proposal may be a proposer to been add, withdraw or replace.

(4)There are two types of proposals, one involving treasury operations and the other not.

3)For the treasury: 04:11

(1)Add an osnap or safesnap module into SnapShot and test it to make sure it has the ability to automatically perform actions on the treasury according to the proposal. (need Silk help to confirm).

(2)After a period of verification, delete all current multi-signers in treasury.

bz 03.06.2024 03:54:53 04:11

👉, when the token economy is built, and each Dapp module may cover and include content that will make the community to grow continuously and fully, rather than just an empty MeMe coin😞.

the treasury will gain space to increase value, community size will be substantially increased, we will can support Julian more(core mission) and provide more support and cooperation to the other cypherpunk project.

I combine your opinions, requirements, views, as well as the wishes of as many holders, combined with the overall status of the community thinking.

In general, we may have different ideas and different cultural backgrounds, but to grow the DAO, we must build a substantial community while waiting for Julian to be free.

time is running out.let's speed it up.

1. Every time a slightly more optimistic piece of news about Julian comes out, there is criticism and criticism of the community from outside. Continued efforts are needed to change this situation-they negatively affect Julian's reputation.

Complete decentralization will introduce this risk, and the community will be hurt.

The main problem at present is not that holders cannot vote, but that the voting space is closed. Amir\Rose\Silk is unwilling to open it. But I only have one vote, and the three of them have three votes. Three signatures are required to open the voting space for holders to initial proposals and voting. 13:51

M mxy 13:52
In reply to this message

BTW, I messaged SILK about E today. We'll see if she(?) responds

B bz 13:53
Silk should come to help to open the snapshot space, then the holder can initial proposal\ voting.....

Also Amir\Rose... 13:53

M mxy 13:53
In reply to this message

Right and I hear you on this. What I don't understand is what partial or limited decentralization do you want?

In other words, what is the difference between your proposal and theirs/Amir's? 13:53

B bz 13:54
but they want the DAO change the Governance Structure now, otherwise not happy to open it.

M mxy 13:54
Ok, and you want to resume governance as-is (for now) ?

What does GB think? 13:58

B bz 14:00
Multi-signature is only the executor of the community resolution results, and should implement the community's proposals or any resolutions. (at the same time, it keeps vetoing proposals or resolutions that are harmful to the community and plays the role of a good gatekeeper)---This is the best governance structure so far.

bz

governance, it will only bring greater potential risks to the DAO, because so far, there has not been a successful fully decentralized DAO in the crypto field--except BTC.

-  mxy 14:02
In reply to this message
I was going to suggest multi-signers as new consensus unit 😊
-  bz 14:05
it's a good idea
-  mxy 14:07
The 51% attack risk is no different from hostile takeovers of centralized organizations
- You can't stop it but you can mitigate it 14:07
- Officers/multi-signers with terms. Put limits in the contracts/governance - certain things can't be done. Give the community appeal options. Create special provisions against a small number of holders (10 or less) making the decisions unilaterally 14:09
- Require votes to have not just a certain percentage to pass, but a certain number of votes as well, to prevent hijacking 14:11
- Things like that 14:11
-  bz 14:12
Current governance structures, composed of existing governance tools, are inherently available and satisfied.
- Only been locked 14:13
-  mxy 14:14
They need updating, at least
-  bz 14:14
But must be opened first...
-  mxy 14:14
Proposals are supposed to go on the forum, which hasn't been replaced yet
- And the consensus unit needs to let things happen 14:15
- IDK if GB has been active on the Discord 14:15

We look at who owns the biggest chunks of $JUSTICE, see if they'll commit to not sell or something. And then mitigate it with things like this then the DAO will have two consensus unit? who+how to ensure the multisigners are absolute fairness and integrity and sufficient skills?

And this

In reply to this message

21:59

No, it'd replace the family as consensus unit

Or if the family stays as consensus unit, there is no real risk of 51% attack because they can veto things

22:00

But I think many in the community would trust multisigners as consensus unit more than the family.

22:13

In reply to this message

No, this is completely two different directions and different fields. It is not appropriate to mix them together for discussion and comparison.

For example, setting a voting strategy with different thresholds for a single proposal will make it difficult for the proposal to be effectively voted successfully, but the setting is too low and easy to be voted for by a few people... Generally speaking, it is a matter of voting strategy, and it is enough to make specific and flexible adjustments in the actual maintaining a reasonable game of balance between the people who make up multiple signatures.

mxy

22:16

I am thinking that governance should be fixed first

Amir and SILK seem to want to get rid of the consensus unit and the multi-sig power 22:16

Is that right? 22:16

In reply to this message 22:17

The old process is broken and cannot be followed. So governance has to be fixed

Sorry for what I don't understand. I want to understand, I wouldn't talk to you if I didn't 22:19

22:21

Generally speaking, it takes a long time, effort, capital cost and trial and error space to design and implement a sufficiently perfect governance structure, involving a very broad range of knowledge and skills such as organization, economics, game science, etc. It takes a long time, energy, capital cost and trial and error. It is easy to introduce too many uncertainty risks. At present, Assange DAO does not meet these conditions.

At present, the most important thing is to let the community run and develop first. There are suitable people who can be frequently contacted, love the community, and can be trusted to form multiple signatures, and proposers to promote and implement community affairs. It is more practical and traceable than the vague and uncertain rush to a decentralized governance structure.

22:23

I don't know if full decentralization is the answer, but I do think governance needs to be fixed first. Maybe leave some issues for later, but there are immediate ones.

Telegram and discord aren't permanent, transparent, or publicly accessible. Governance, proposals, etc. needs to happen in a place that is (though it can private spaces, too) 22:24

The Discourse-based forums were good for that 22:24

This was the system that was used before <https://discourse.org/pricing> 22:28

There needs to be more than just the contract tools. There needs to be the tools for the community, too Telegram, Discord, and WeChat are good for chatting but not for governance. Not for brainstorming and proposals.

22:31

This is something I could probably help with, but it would need task-level trust

There are many open source forums like discourse that can be used for rapid deployment, but they are centralized, too fragile and meaningless. At present, can use telegrams to communicate first. When the community is built, can consider developing a forum of decentralized...

mxy

The setting is what builds the community

You need a forum because anyone can see it easily - that draws people in. It doesn't need people use special software - it has a low barrier to entry. When posts are edited, you can see what the edit was so there's accountability. Posts can be archived, so even if a mod deletes something, it survives.

22:47

Telegram is good, yes. But you need forums too

22:48

bz

B bz 22:51
So first the treasury should can work,pay for developers、 server、 dns...

No treasury,no proposal..no everything. 22:52

M mxy 22:52
Or you fix governance by removing the forum

But I think you should restore a forum 22:52

What if you did Discourse for six months? 22:53

And had back ups of the server, and all the forum info (not just the web pages) 22:53

While the DAO got back on its feet and ready for something distributed, ready to pay for devs 22:54

There are people that are willing to volunteer in the meantime 22:55

B bz 22:56
the 'Justice Voice ' module is plan to develop a perfect decentralization forum...in the proposal I post before....🙄

M mxy 23:00
Where?

I didn't see it in proposal 2.5, not sure what document to look at. Words don't show up in a search of the channel 23:01

But also - good ❤️ 23:03

Heck, I could pay for a VPS at Flokinet until your distributed thing is ready 23:06

Regardless, I think if you got some sort of temporary forum up (and plan to migrate / archive / preserve / etc. it), it would make things a little easier with SILK because it was a problem for her. 23:09

It doesn't fix everything, but when you allay one concern... 23:10

In reply to this message 23:13

Ah, Voice of the Justice - sorry. My fault. https://t.me/Real_AssangeDAO/1/877

Thank you for your kindness. To be honest, I am very touched. The discord server is in arrears, the forum is lost... Those people are unwilling to pay, but if you are not a member of the core group of this community, you are willing to help the community pay, which is very generous.

However, believe me, these are not important at present, because what most currency holders are most dissatisfied with is that the voting space of the community has been closed, and the treasury has been stagnant for a long time, but it has been ignored by many signers...

most currency holders are most dissatisfied with...

The problems (and the solutions) are linked. And governance requires the forums. That's why I keep saying you need to fix governance first

Maybe that means changing governance somehow, or maybe it just means fixing the mechanisms for governance. And that includes the forums. They need to either work or be removed from the governance. That's how the system works for proposals and voting

And it gives you the best chance of keeping the other multisigs for now. I don't think the community should lose them at the reboot - it's bad for continuity and morale, it's a loss of institutional knowledge and it's an opportunity for more uncertainty and doubt to creep in

But I'm sorry if I am.

06:01

I don't see what the point is for turning on the voting system if no one can make any proposals to vote on. It's supposed to be proposed and discussed on the static forum. That's why I say it has to be fixed.

06:05

I'm sorry, I'm taking too much of your time

06:07

You don't have to explain

06:07

Thank you for being patient

06:07

bz

06:08

This is a bullshit theory.

Proposals can be initiated anywhere, Telegram/Discord... After discussion, the summary options can be sent to the snapshot. This is how the community has always worked.

There are no rules or requirements that require the use of forums as rigid as this.

Have you chat with Aimr and Silk?

06:10

For example, the day before yesterday, yesterday, and today?

bz

We have prepared an initial governance model for the DAO, which is shown in the diagram above, and can be ratified by our first vote. First, community members will share a draft of the proposal in the forum for discussion with the community. This proposal template should be used.

Following community discussion, proposals are reviewed by the Consensus Unit. Their role is to screen the proposals for any potential harm to Assange or his legal case before a proposal is published on snapshot. If the Consensus Unit believes the proposal may cause harm to Assange or efforts to free Assange, they may reject the proposal from advancing. Initially, the Consensus Unit will consist of Jen Robinson (Julian Assange's lawyer), Gabriel Shipton (Julian Assange's brother) and Stella Moris (Julian Assange's fiancée) and our community moderators.

If the proposal is accepted by the Consensus Unit, it will be added to Snapshot. $JUSTICE holders will be able to vote on accepting or rejecting the proposal.

"First, community members will share a draft of the proposal in the forum for discussion with the community. "

Please stop nagging about this topic, this is the last reminder. If anyone is nagging about this kind of rigid requirement, they should speak out first, instead of ignoring and not responding to the urgings of so many people in the community! They should first restore the domain name, forum, and server!

mxy

06:19

>they should speak out first

Silk mentioned it in the general chat...

>They should first restore the domain name, forum, and server!

I just offered to help with this...

>If anyone is nagging about this kind of rigid requirement

One of the suggestions I made was simply changing/removing the requirement, instead of ignoring the DAO's process which was included in the legal section of the website

>Please stop nagging about this topic

I'm sorry I've bothered you

bz

mxy

06:40

No

bz

06:44

1. The veto power of the consensus unit will be invalidated immediately, and the Assange family will immediately declare to disconnect from the community, and then the community will no longer legally own the Assange IP brand.
2. When Julian is free, he will not enter the community and will not lead the community.
3. Fully decentralized governance on the chain means that anyone can initiate any proposal, and it will be automatically executed by the governance process supported by smart contracts, including the operation of the treasury! By then, the chaebols and whales can control the community at will, and the majority of small and medium-sized coin holders will be continuously harvested without any resistance.
4. The core mission of the community will not be able to continue, it will split, quarrel, endlessly, and finally disappear.

It is not about forums, domain names, or tools like that.

06:45

It is about seizing power! It is about division! It is about completely changing the mission and attributes of the community!

This is the truth that is not convenient to say publicly! Out of courtesy and respect for Amir, I have been trying to keep it to myself and not write it publicly.

06:46

mxy

06:46

Ok, so first - the possible governance change I suggested above wasn't to go fully decentralized governance, on chain voting or any of that. Although I know there is discussion of that with the other multisigs
